Promise Scholars has been named the 2018 Bank of America Neighborhood Builders® award recipient for the Inland Empire. As part of the award, Promise Scholars will receive $200,000 in unrestricted grant funding to pilot a new College Ambassador program aimed at helping Ontario-Montclair students and their families navigate applying and transitioning to local colleges. Promise Scholars is proud to have Bank of America as a core partner who invest funds and staff expertise and time to help build Promise Scholars to scale. Employees from Bank of America volunteer each month to share their college and career experience with our 6th graders during Promise Scholars Business Leader Presentations, they support the annual Reindeer Run, and Danny De La Mora, Bank of America Commercial Banking Relationship Manager currently serves as the Promise Scholars Board Vice President.

“The Promise Scholars program has the potential to close the Inland Empire’s growing education gap that impact’s the region’s economy. We know an educated workforce attracts higher wage jobs and sustainable careers, and the types of industries located in the Inland Valley become more automated with evolved skill sets needed, programs like Promise Scholars can help ensure that no student is left behind in the region’s exciting economic future,” said Al Arguello, Inland Empire Market President, Bank of America.

As a Neighborhood Builder awardee, Promise Scholars will also receive a year of leadership training for the Executive Director and an emerging leader at the organization, access to a network of peer organizations across the U.S., and the opportunity to access additional capital to expand their impact.

Volunteer Spotlight - Christian Garcia

Christian is a sophomore at Mt. San Antonio College (Mt. SAC). He volunteered at the last Promise Scholars Community College Camus Tour to Mt. SAC by chaperoning and sharing his college experience as a first generation college student.

Fun fact: Christian was a Promise Scholar who attended Elderberry Elementary and graduated from Montclair High School!

Promise Scholars Welcome

Hello! My name is Danielle King and I joined the Promise Scholars team in September. This is my second year serving as an AmeriCorps Volunteer Infrastructure Program Fellow. Last year I served in Orange County with Big Brothers Big Sisters. I graduated in 2014 from Oklahoma State University with a Bachelors of Science in Human Development and a minor in Psychology. I am a first generation college student and I accredit my academic success to the individuals in my life that didn't low their expectations of me because of my circumstances. I'm happy to be a part of the movement to increase the college going rate for all OMSD/Chaffey, Montclair, and Ontario High School students!

Hello everyone! My name is Priya Biswas and I recently graduate from the School of Public Policy at University of California Riverside. I'm passionate about implementing sustainable practices into the community to help families become more self-sufficient. Growing up as a daughter of first generation immigrants, I understood the impact urban development and environmental policies have placed in diverse communities. As a public policy major, I spent much of my time in college volunteering with the community garden, hosting urban farming workshops, and organizing to end food insecurity on campus. By joining Promise scholars as an AmeriCorps VIP fellow, I hope to provide younger folks with opportunities to further their education as I did and to give back to the community
